Search Friendly Error Pages

November 2004

Whoops! Your page cannot be found! It is not uncommon to accidentally create invalid page links on your web site during frequent changes and updates. This holds especially true for sites that have to maintain an extensive amount of internal pages. In addition, if you move or delete pages that are listed in search engines or links from other sites (directory listings, article links, and swapped links) these will all result in 404 error pages.
